DETAILED ACTION

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) THE NAMES OF THE PARTIES TO A JOINT RESEARCH AGREEMENT.
- (e) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC.
- (f) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
 - (1) Field of the Invention.
 - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (g) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (h) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (i) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (j) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (l) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claims 5 and 8 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 5, lines 2-3, there is no antecedent basis for "said collecting devices" ("devices" should read --device—to conform to claim 1). In claim 8, line 2, "Claims" should be deleted. Appropriate correction is required.

Art Unit: 3676

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-9, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lundblad (186).

Lundblad teaches both an arrangement and a method of use in a depositing machine, including a storage space within the interior of casing 101, the casing having plural collecting devices defined as drums 30 for storing valuable documents on the drums with the aid of a carrier film or foil defined by the belts of column 2, line 14. Each drum is housed within a collecting vessel 11-17, which collecting vessels 11-17 are all located within the storage space interior of casing 101. The collecting vessel(s) receive the destructive agent when it is released from a destructive agent container 31 or 32 by an alarm signal. The fuses 3113 and 3213 in fig. 3 define a puncturing means for the nets 3112 and 3212 of the container 31, 32. At least one of the containers 31, 32 in fig. 3 is mounted above the bottom of the collecting vessel 11-17 in which the drum(s) is mounted. Even if the device of fig. 3 were mounted horizontally within a vessel 11-17, at least a portion of the container(s) 31, 32 would be above the valuable documents and the bottom and an opening portion of the collecting vessel 11-17. The limitations of claim 5 are disclosed in column 1, lines 58-60.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 10, 11 and 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lundblad (186).

The casing 101 of Lundblad defines a depositing machine. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to employ the teachings of Lundblad in plural well known machines similar to the machine of Lundblad, the motivation being to prevent tampering with valuable document machines.

Applicant's arguments filed July 13, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's remarks, it is resubmitted that the Lundblad (186) reference teaches all of the claimed structure and method limitations. In response to the argument on page 11 of the remarks, it is noted that the "storage spaces" referred to by applicant are regarded by the examiner as the claimed collecting vessel. In particular, as set forth in the above rejection, the claimed storage space is regarded as the casing 101 interior of Lundblad. The claimed collecting device is the drum of Lundblad on which the documents are wound. The claimed collecting vessel is regarded as element(s) 11-17 in the Lundblad reference. Accordingly, it is resubmitted that the Lundblad reference meets these claimed limitations.

In response to the remarks on page 12, line 23, the "storage spaces" referred to by applicant are relied upon by the examiner as collecting vessels within the storage space 101. It is submitted that nothing in the claims precludes the use of elements 11-17 of Lundblad as meeting the collecting vessel limitations. In response to the "not collecting vessels within storage spaces" remark on page 12, line 24, it is noted that plural storage spaces are not being claimed. The claims define one storage space, one collecting device, and one collecting vessel, which are taught by the Lundblad reference in the above claim rejections and the above remarks, as Lundblad teaches one storage space defined by the interior of casing 101, one collecting device drum, which is also housed within one collecting vessel (11-17).

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
